

A lateral chest X-ray showing the thoracic cavity. Two yellow rectangular bounding boxes are overlaid on the image to highlight areas of airspace opacification. The first box is located in the upper-middle section of the lung field, and the second box is located in the lower-middle section. Both boxes contain text indicating the measured airspace opacification value.

Airspace opacification 0.40

Airspace opacification 0.69